CONFERENCE OBJECTIVE:

The objective of the 10th International Conference on Concrete Pavements is to present the latest information on economical and practical aspects of concrete pavement design, construction, materials, maintenance, performance, evaluation, and structural rehabilitation, which are essential for achieving long-lasting, high-performance concrete pavements.

This conference will carry on the tradition of a series of international conferences begun in 1977 by Purdue University and now being organized by the ISCP. As with the previous international conferences, the focus of the 10th Conference will be to present information on new technologies related to the design, construction, and rehabilitation of various types of concrete pavements.

The theme for the Conference is:

“SUSTAINABLE SOLUTIONS
 TO GLOBAL TRANSPORTATION NEEDS”

A strong exhibitor program is planned to showcase new products and services.

CONFERENCE TOPICS:

Up to 100 papers and conference presentations are expected to cover a wide range of topics dealing with concrete pavement innovations, including (but not limited to):

- Concrete pavement analysis
- Design and construction
- Concrete materials and pavement performance
- Joint performance
- Different types of concrete pavements & overlays
- Post-construction evaluation
- Long-term performance
- Ecological issues, economics and more.

Papers and presentations dealing with emerging topics are expected to include:

- Acceptance criteria for long-term performance
- Causes and effects of distress development
- Concrete pavement technology
- Implementation of mechanistic-based analysis
- LCCA and LCA
- Pavement preservation
- Surface texture/friction/noise
- Sustainability
- Technology transfer
- Forensic Investigations

The conference is expected to be of significant benefit to both practicing engineers and research engineers. The presentations will comprise comprehensive coverage on concrete pavement technology.

STUDENT POSTER PRESENTATIONS:

ISCP is announcing the Student Poster Board Competition at the 10th ICCP, July 8-12, 2012 in Québec City, Québec, Canada. The best student poster presentation at the conference session will be awarded the B.F. McCullough Award.

Graduate and undergraduate college students are highly encouraged to submit a poster on their research progress in any area related to the performance of the concrete pavement system. To be eligible for the Award, each student poster will undergo a two-step review process, including an initial review and acceptance of the entry and a final evaluation/presentation at the conference. Please see the conference website for important dates and details: <http://www.concretepavements.org/10thiccp/>.

Conference registration fees will be waived for one student author of each poster board that is successfully entered into the competition.

The American Concrete Pavement Association (ACPA) encourages students who plan to participate in the poster board competition, to apply for conference travel support with local ACPA chapters. ACPA chapter contact information can be found at www.acpa.org.

WHO SHOULD ATTEND?

Engineers from industry and government (federal, state, county and municipal), consulting engineers, contractors, researchers, producers, and others who are concerned with high-performance pavements for roads, streets, airports, and industrial uses should attend. Previous conferences have attracted participants from more than 30 different countries. Early responses suggest that very strong interest continues from almost every continent.
